

ABSTRACT

(0038) Described is a preferred medicine organizer including both pill bottle and individual pill storage units. Preferred devices include upper and lower frame members removably attached to one another, with one providing the bottle storage unit and the other providing the individual pill storage unit. Preferred medicine organizers also include nestable components whereby multiple identical medicine organizers can be nested atop one another.